New county budget sees employees, supervisors receive pay increase

BY DAVID A. FARRELL

Hancock County supervisors on Friday gave their approval to a $17 million 1993-94 budget that will see full-time county workers receive a 50-cent-per-hour pay increase and supervisors a 10 percent pay hike.

The supervisors' increase will raise annual pay for supervisors here $2,652, from the current $26,520 to $29,172.

Supervisors voted unanimously in favor of the budget and all pay raises.

Supervisors, in voting for their own pay raise, said that state law required them to vote specifically and separately for their raise and pointed out that they had not had a pay increase in five years, although county workers and other officials had.

Supervisors also pointed out that the current raises included in the $3 million increase in the 1993-94 new budget over the current 1992-93 budget is being accomplished without a tax hike.

Supervisors attributed that to two factors: an increase in the county's assessed valuation because of economic growth and the influx of gambling tax revenue into the budget, which is expected to be near $800,000 in the period Oct. 1, 1993, to Sept. 30, 1994, maybe more if another casino comes on-line here, supervisors said.

The new budget and pay raises will take effect on Oct. 1. The county's fiscal year runs from Oct. 1 to Sept. 30.

Almost all county agencies were held at last year's millage rates, although supervisors, in a short discussion concerning the library system, said that since assessed valuation is up, collection of taxes should rise some, based on the same millage rate being applied to a higher assessed valuation.

Library officials, citing growth, a planned expansion of the main library and a rise in demand for services, had requested three mills be levied

Center vandalized, Reward offered

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

A $100 Reward has been offered in a case involving the destruction of a gate and fence at the Hancock County Convenience Center located at Washington Street and Chapman Road.

Tuesday night, someone hooked a chain to the gate and with a vehicle, ripped out the gate, fence posts and about 50 foot of fencing, George Burleson, Hancock County deputy sheriff said.

The reward of $100 is from private donations from several members of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Beautification Committee. The reward of $100 is for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person, or persons responsible for the vandalism.

The county provides manned Convenience Centers for garbage disposal open daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Information can be called into the Hancock County sheriff's office, 467-5101.

Miss. Landing hearing set Sept. 7

BY DAVID A. FARRELL

Officials representing Mississippi Landing, a $100 million proposed casino development at 603 and I-10 just north of Bay St. Louis, are eyeing a site approval hearing with the state gaming commission in Jackson on Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 9 a.m., a spokesman representing the company said.

Some Hancock County officials are planning to attend the meeting, including some members of the board of supervisors and the county's legislative delegation to show support for the project.

However, opponents of the proposed casino are expected to also make a presentation at the hearing.

Some critics of the proposed casino, mainly representing other casino interests along the Coast, say the site selected by Mississippi Landing does not

Judge issues preliminary injunction on appointment

BY DAVID A. FARRELL

Hancock County Chancery Court Judge J.N. Randall, Jr., has granted a preliminary injunction, requested by Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre, that will allow John Scaffide to continue to serve as city attorney until a dispute between the council and mayor over the appointment can be heard in a court hearing.

Randall has told both parties in the suit to file briefs with the court in preparation for a hearing on whether Favre can appoint a city attorney without the council's approval.

Save Our Children

Volunteers needed to prepare youth center for opening

BY LIZ HAAS

Members of Save Our Children will be at the youth center, the Old Welfare Office on Necaise Avenue, to receive any volunteers who would like to help prepare the building for its opening.

The center will serve the youth of the community.

Chairman Geraldine Lang said SOC is hoping to have the center opened by the end of September.

"We want to continue to go on with this project and hope we can succeed," she said.

Anyone interested in volunteering their help at the center should contact Lang at 467-9586.

"We are going to be preparing the library, doing some painting and ask for help from everyone, especially the parents," said Lang.

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday Toni Smith will be at the center from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Lang will be at the center on

PCYC gears up for 56th annual Ladies Regatta on Aug. 20-22

The Pass Christian Yacht Club is making plans to welcome sailors from every Gulf Yacht Association club who will participate in the 56th annual Commodore Bernard L. Knost Trophy Ladies' Championship Regatta Aug. 20-22.

Officials who sponsor the regatta believe it to be the first, and one of the last remaining, all-female regattas in the U.S. The ladies will be vying for honors in the Flying Scot and spinnaker and non-spinnaker competitions, sailing over the waters of the Mississippi Sound in front of the Pass Christian Yacht Club.

Race Committee Chairman Harry Hammett, Regatta Chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Donald Doyle, last year's chairperson Mrs. Jean Bittenbender and a representative of the Knost family, along with their respective committees, have planned a weekend of entertainment for regatta guests.

Bernard Knost broke all the unspoken rules and created an all-female sailboat regatta in 1938, the year he was commodore of the Pass Christian Yacht Club.

The skipperette contest became part of the Pass's annual summer regatta pageant.

This year, Pass Christian Yacht Club Commodore Frank Allen is carrying on the tradition and making every effort to make the current regatta a memorable experience.

Regatta officials said team captains must register their teams at the clubhouse between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. on Saturday, Aug. 21.

Team captains must also submit the name of the skipper and the names of the crew for each race at least 30 minutes prior to the scheduled time for the start of the race, officials said.

Officials also released the following schedule:

Friday, Aug. 20: 6 p.m. — Cocktails; 7 p.m. — 9:30 p.m. — Dinner, Dutch treat.

Saturday, Aug. 21: 9 a.m. — Complimentary coffee, juice, donuts and registration; 10:30 a.m. — Sandwiches, ice, soft drinks and beer available for take-out; 11 a.m. — Registration closed; skippers' meeting, Flying Scot Class; 11:15 a.m. — Skippers' meeting, handicap

Craftsmen's Guild seeks new members

Demand from Mississippi's blossoming tourism industry and increasing local interest in fine, handmade, Mississippi crafts have prompted the Craftsman's Guild of Mississippi Inc. to launch a campaign to attract more individuals and studio groups into its exhibiting membership.

All artisans in Mississippi and nearby states who hand-produce high quality original crafts such as baskets, pottery, woodcarving, textile weaving, glass, furniture, paper, sculpture, jewelry, and metalwork are invited to present their work to the Guild office in Jackson before Sept. 4 for consideration during its autumn standards review.

Work produced from kits, commercial patterns, or automated assembly lines is not acceptable.

Those craftsmen accepted will be privileged to exhibit and sell their work at popular Craftsman's Guild events such as the October Pioneer and Indian Festival on the Natchez Trace Parkway in Ridgeland and the December Chimneyville Crafts Festival at the Trademart in Jackson.

Members' work is promoted through various other activities and projects of this active, professional guild. At present, two retail craft shops are operated by the guild in the Metro Jackson area.

Members demonstrate there and at Mississippi Welcome Centers, and long-range plans are underway to establish more crafts outposts throughout Mississippi to reach tourists and collectors alike.

If you wish to become an exhibiting member of the Craftsman's Guild of Mississippi Inc., telephone the guild office in Jackson at 981-0019 for information and a detailed application form.

meet the requirements outlined in state law for dockside gambling.

Mississippi Landing representatives say the site does, and in recent appearances before Hancock government and civic organizations said they had hired the country's best experts to help prove their case.

The question revolves around whether the site selected is on either the Jourdan River or the Bay of St. Louis.

Glen W. Schaeffer, former president of Circus Circus casino complex in Las Vegas and one of four partners proposing the development, told Hancock officials recently that if the site is approved, the company is ready to begin construction immediately.

He said the company has the $100 million in hand and the project will employ 6,000 persons during construction that will last about a year.

He said permanent employment would be close to 3,000 and said the development would be a "resort destination" that will attract new tourists to the Gulf Coast.

He said the development would increase traffic at neighboring casinos and not detract from their business. First year taxes to Hancock County from the development are conservatively estimated at $8 million, Mississippi Landing representatives said.

The company has an option on 600 acres at the site.

Already one gaming commission member, Ed Buelow, commission president, has toured the site and others are expected to do so before the hearing.

Home schooling group offers educational option

Home schooling can be a solution for parents who are seeking excellence in education as well as character building for their child.

Coast CHEA (Christian Home Educators Association), a home schooling support group, offers assistance to those involved in home schooling their children.

A monthly meeting, held in Long Beach, enables new home schoolers to learn about the laws, the various curriculum options and methods available.

Parents who are either just beginning home schooling or are long term in this venture are encouraged in this monthly support meeting.

The Coast CHEA group brings children and parents together for fun and fellowship at their Park Day meeting, held on the first Friday of each month from 12:00 until 2:30 at War Memorial Park in Pass Christian at Scenic Drive and Fleitas.

The purpose is to enable home-schooled children to meet and play while parents share home school struggles and successes.

Newcomers are strongly encouraged to pack a picnic lunch and attend. Inquiries concerning this growing trend are welcome.

to support county libraries, but supervisors held the millage rate for libraries at two mills, the same as last year.

However, a budget analysis supervisors worked from at the budget hearing showed that last year the library was budgeted at $240,000 at two mills while the new budget showed the appropriation increased to $320,000 under the same two-mill levy.

In previous discussions, supervisors had indicated they might be able to shift some funds from other areas to help meet library needs if the two mills doesn't generate enough funds.

Library officials and supporters — like other agencies, too — lobbied the supervisors hard this year for an increased appropriation.

During the hearing, Tax Assessor-Collector Eddie Murtagh noted to supervisors that he had requested funding in his department to give his full-time employees a 68-cent-per-hour pay raise but he later said that he felt supervisors had tried to be fair.

On another matter, supervisors agreed to include in the sand beach project a request from Waveland Mayor Stella Filot and residents that a culvert be installed and another cleaned out to help prevent flooding in the Bienville Street area near the beach.

Filot and some residents appeared before supervisors prior to the 10 a.m. budget hearing on Friday.

Tuesday and Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. The center will also be open on Saturday.

Programs that will be offered at the center include tutoring, computer training, dance and cultural education and parenting programs and assistance.

Work on the roof is completed, the group has insurance and the next projects SOC faces are painting of the outside of the building, having a fence built and finding an electrician to check the wiring.

"We are hoping to get to these projects this upcoming week," said Lang.

The center is also in need of book shelves for the library, a typewriter, refrigerator, any paper products, garbage cans, a sofa and any other items for a reception area.

"We're open to accept any donations," said SOC member Erlene Washington.

Lang said, "It's going to be so nice, I can't wait to have it open and encourage everyone to help us with this project."

Injunction

No date has been set for the hearing.

The council originally rejected Favre's decision to reappoint Scaffide, named and began consulting with Donald Rafferty as city attorney. Rafferty had earlier been hired, in addition to Scaffide, to advise the council only on gaming issues.

After the council's decision, Rafferty began advising the council on other issues, too.

The council then announced that it and Favre were entering what was termed a "friendly lawsuit" to settle the matter. But Favre in late July, citing court cases he said proved his point, filed suit asking for the preliminary injunction.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

One of our subscribers dropped by the office Thursday evening to report she had received a telephone call from someone trying to sell 24-hour fire alarm systems.

Not giving out any of her personal information, she tried to get information on the company selling the product and was not happy with the response.

She then went to the Bay Police Department and was informed the company was not registered with them.

It may be wise for residents to really be sure they know who they are talking with before they ever give out any information over the telephone.

A good check on any solicitor, is to call the police department to see if they are registered with them, or the Better Business Bureau.

It seems that if someone was selling an alarm system, the police department should know something about them.

Police Chief Frank McNeil said he urges all residents not to give their credit card, or drivers license number out unless they can first verify the company is legitimate.

One of the latest scams is to get a persons credit card number and make a duplicate of it and also make a fake license with a fake photo.

They then drain off a persons credit limits on their credit cards.

McNeil reports there have been several cases like this happening in the area.

Another hint I heard several weeks ago was to never give out a persons credit card number over a portable telephone, as it can be intercepted.

I was asked by a Hancock County sheriff's investigator, to take a ride Thursday afternoon to view some areas with bad litter problems.

One place we visited looked like a new garbage 'dump' right on our beachfront.

I am talking about Clermont Harbor, as there are several large piles of mostly beer bottles and trash.

It is a disgrace for our beachfront to be so covered with litter.

Something has to be done with the situation, in addition to being an eyesore, it can also be dangerous because of the broken bottles.

There were several areas we passed that were filthy with litter and even in Bay St. Louis, we found a regular 'dump.'

If you guessed the Martin Luther King Park, you were right.

This park can be cleaned up one day and the next it looks like it had not been taken care of in years.

A week ago I passed the Martin Luther King Park and the basketball court was covered with bottles, many of which were broken.

Broken bottles and litter were all over the play area, how can youngsters play and enjoy themselves in such conditions.

I know there are people who want to keep Martin Luther King Park clean and beautiful, yet there seems to be a few who have other ideas.

Something to think about, mature adults should be setting a good example for youth.

While on the subject of litter, someone on Tuesday night ripped the gate and a portion of the fence from the Washington Street/Chapman Road Hancock County Convenience Center.

Someone just hooked a chain to the gate and pulled it, along with fence and posts, down.

Several members of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Beautification Committee have gotten together and are offering a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person, or person responsible.

Give the sheriff's office a call at 467-5101.

Longtime Bay St. Louis resident and native, Mr. Henry Lang celebrated his 85th birthday on Aug. 8.

I have known Mr. Henry all of my life. As a matter of fact, he, my father and an uncle all worked together as teenagers in the J.S. LeBlanc Grocery in Bay St. Louis.

In celebrating his birthday, Mr. Henry flew to Key West and had a big celebration with daughter JoAnn Cassidy, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Mr. Henry can be seen about the Bay on his bicycle, and also each week morning at the Hancock County Food Pantry giving a helping hand.

Prior to retirement, Mr. Lang was head butcher at Jitney Jungle for many years.

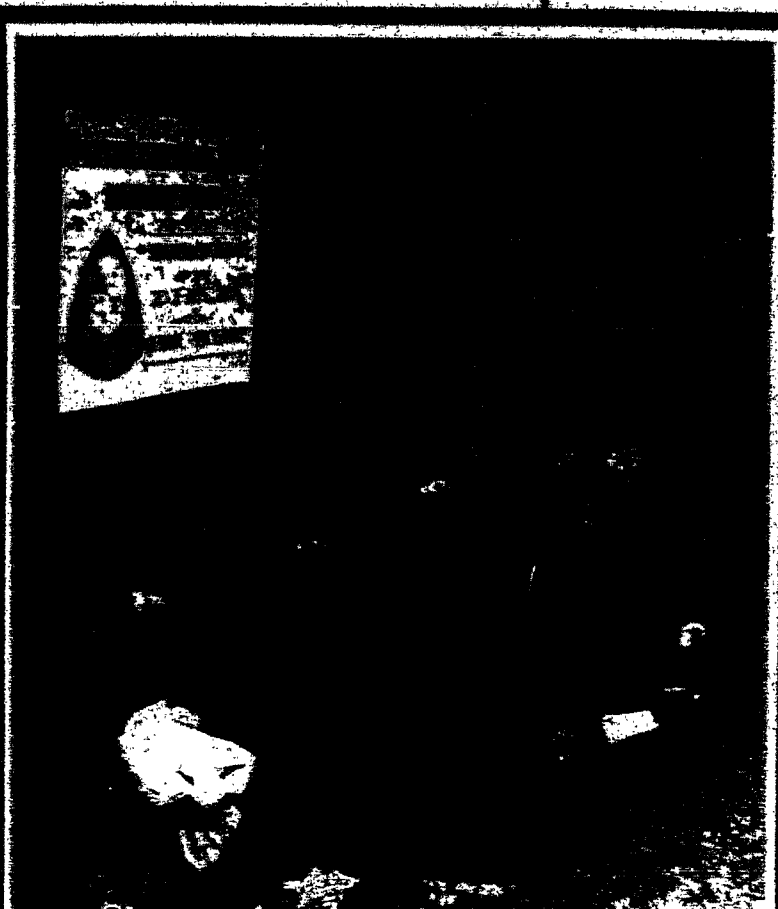

Happy birthday Mr. Henry and I hope to have many, many more.

Taylor senses ban will remain

When all is said and done, I am optimistic that the present ban on gays in the military will remain intact without the adoption of the "don't ask, don't tell" policy.

After having attended a recent Armed Services Subcommittee hearing on military personnel, I believe that the committee will vote to keep the ban in place without adding any additional amendments.

Once out of the House Armed Services Committee, I would be surprised if the House and the Senate did not accept the advice of the committee and vote to also keep the ban in place.

The "Don't Ask, Don't Tell" policy just doesn't make any sense.

The Department of Defense Directive 1332.14 states that homosexuality is incompatible with military service. I agree with the directive and the Joint Chiefs of Staff that the current ban on homosexuality in the armed forces should remain intact.

A "don't ask, don't tell" policy that bars openly practicing homosexuals but limits investigations of discreet gays and lesbians is not the solution. Keeping the ban intact is the solution.

Military life often means wrenching contact with people whose company one has not chosen, without normal privacy, under chronic stress. Introducing gays into this unique environment will cause serious disruptions.

The armed forces have always placed military effectiveness above individual needs. To surrender the "don't ask, don't tell" policy without serious regard for the consequences could severely damage the security and morale of our nation's armed forces.

As a member of the House Armed Services Committee you can rest assured that I will take every step possible to keep the current ban intact.

Weidman explains position on sewer and gas line

Dear Editor:

A number of people have asked me why I voted no on the Bayou Caddy deal and the agreement with the State Highway Department to relocate the gas lines on Highway 603. Some of my reasons are as follows:

First as to the Bayou Caddy deal:

1. I don't feel that your tax dollars should be used to subsidize an industry outside our city limits where our city will receive no taxes or revenues from this business.

2. We still have several streets with no water and sewerage service available, for example, portions of Highway 90 where future businesses could locate.

3. There is no maintenance agreement on the sewer line that will be put in. Whose responsibility is it to maintain this line?

4. It has not been explained who will bear the cost of repairing the damage to the streets and drainage which will be caused by laying the new line.

5. The present sewerage system in Waveland dates from 1972 and was designed for 2,000 households. Will accepting the effluent from Bayou Caddy over load the system? If so, will you, the taxpayers of Waveland be asked to raise the money to upgrade this 21 year old system?

Second, as to the agreement with the State Highway Department:

1. The City of Waveland was officially notified by the State Highway Dept. on April 10, 1990 that the City would be required to move the gas lines. I was not an Alderman at that time, but the Mayor and her three Aldermen and the City Attorney were all serving on that Board.

2. I was informed informally by City personnel that we were going to relocate the gas lines with City employees and that $66,000 was provided in the budget to do the project.

3. After the front page headlines of Thursday, June 24, 1993, I visited with the City Engineer, Duke Levy, to learn more about the problem. Two things were of particular interest to me, which were, who prepared the Urgent Need Grant and where did Mayor Frilot come up with the $300,000 cost to relocate the gas lines.

I found that South Mississippi Planning and Development District prepared the grant application which called for a cost of $124,700 to relocate the lines and engineering and administrative costs brought the total application to $181,600. No one could explain the $300,000 from Mayor Frilot.

4. When I requested information about the project at the meeting of July 5, Mayor Frilot curtly replied that what I read in the newspapers was all I needed to know. When she asked Aldermen Rappold, Colson and Hubbard if they had enough information, they of course - said yes.

5. The City had a period of 18 months from April 10, 1990, to have a project considered for the Urgent Need Grant. The City applied for the grant on March 31, 1993, far too late to have the grant application considered.

6. Mayor Frilot advised me that since I was not an attorney I should take the City Attorney's advice and accept the agreement. But this attorney did not offer any alternative solutions nor even a guess as to what the cost to the citizens of Waveland would be.

In good conscience, at the 11th hour, with very little information to go on I felt I had no choice but to vote no.

Stan Weidman
Alderman 4th Ward
Waveland, MS

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Give and the state shall receive

A few days ago, over 250 volunteers from Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas met in Jackson for a super conference. And super it was.

The Delta Service Corps, a joint service project of three states, held its first conference on community awareness and responsibility since the Corps' beginning in 1992. The program is federally funded and provides qualified, highly motivated people to work in community-based organizations.

During the conference, the Corps discussed where it was after its first year of service and where it should go in the future. The outcome looks as if the Corps will only move ahead. With $3.5 million in funding this year, the Corps has done everything from repair houses to encourage minority participation in the arts. Imagine what the Corps can do with the $5 million in funding it is expected to receive next year.

The main focus of the Corps is to make a community a better place to live. Members of the program volunteer full or part time each week to help people, structures and organizations in communities across Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas. It's simply a matter of giving time and a helping hand to their communities.

Though the volunteers do receive a stipend for their work, it is just enough to cover living expenses for a year. Full-time volunteers certainly cannot afford luxuries while working in the program.

With little pay for a tremendous amount of hard work, why would anyone want to be a part of the Delta Service Corps? Because these 250-plus volunteers see the needs of their local communities and know that they can make a difference. Imagine what Mississippi's many communities could accomplish by working together to help each other.

The solution to the problems of the state must start with the citizens in the communities. Whether it's volunteering to assist with much needed structural repairs or agreeing to lead a citizens action group, efforts to improve this state must be initiated by the individuals who live in Mississippi.

By volunteering in the community, the standard "give and ye shall receive" will go much farther.

Give . . . and we all shall receive.

Hancock Bank offers 'branchless banking'

Hancock Bank has announced the opening of its newest loan location, your telephone. The new center, Loan by Phone, allows customers to apply for all types of personal loans by telephone, thus saving time and effort. Hancock is the only area bank offering this type of loan service.

According to Hancock Bank President George Schloegel, the new service provides a major benefit to people in the market for financing.

"Our new loan center hours are 7 until 6 Monday through Friday and 9 until noon on Saturday. These extended hours will benefit people who cannot get to the bank during normal business hours."

Anyone can reach Loan by Phone by calling

1-800-965-LOAN (5626). They can receive rate and payment information and apply for a loan without having to go to the bank. Closing of the loan will be at a branch and time most convenient to the customer.

Loan-by-Phone center manager Delma Powell has worked the past seven months developing and implementing the concept.

According to Hancock's marketing director Mark Faircloth, the new service is a step toward "branchless banking conveniences."

"All across the country, banks are searching for ways to better serve their customers," stated Faircloth. "The one thing most people say they need more of is time; so, if a bank can save them time when they need a

Hancock Loan by Phone loan, the level of service improves. We have 38 offices in south Mississippi, but Loan by Phone makes anyone's home, office or car phone another branch of Hancock Bank."

Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino makes progress

Construction of Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino, claimed to be the tallest known structure between Pensacola and New Orleans, is presently underway in Lakeshore.

Director of Marketing Keiko Palmero said the casino is scheduled to open before the end of the year.

The three level construction with a total of 61,500 square feet includes 34,000 square feet of gaming and 16,600 square feet for food and beverage.

The third level will be used as an entertainment lounge, seating 250 people.

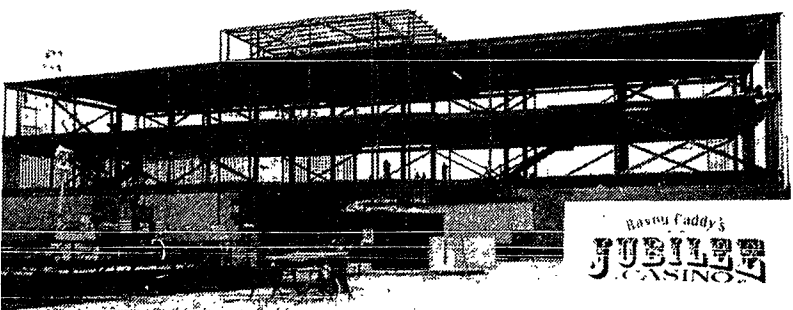

A 160 foot water tower supported on a massive base, will hold 250,000 gallons of water assuring a ready supply of water for the casino, and for any fire or emergency needs. Pilings supporting the tower were driven 125 feet below grade, then filled with concrete and capped with a large concrete apron on which the tower will stand.

Two massive cranes are presently moving tons of earth required to augment the height of the roadway and sidewalks by raising the existing road base by three feet.

Also, under construction is a supplementary wave guard rail of over three feet above the new road base.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

One of our subscribers dropped by the office Thursday evening to report she had received a telephone call from someone trying to sell 24-hour fire alarm systems.

Not giving out any of her personal information, she tried to get information on the company selling the product and was not happy with the response.

She then went to the Bay Police Department and was informed the company was not registered with them.

It may be wise for residents to really be sure they know who they are talking with before they ever give out any information over the telephone.

A good check on any solicitor, is to call the police department to see if they are registered with them, or the Better Business Bureau.

It seems that if someone was selling an alarm system, the police department should know something about them.

Police Chief Frank McNeil said he urges all residents not to give their credit card, or drivers license number out unless they can first verify the company is legitimate.

One of the latest scams is to get a persons credit card number and make a duplicate of it and also make a fake license with a fake photo.

They then drain off a persons credit limits on their credit cards.

Loan-by-Phone center manager Delma Powell has worked the past seven months developing and implementing the concept.

According to Hancock's marketing director Mark Faircloth, the new service is a step toward "branchless banking conveniences."

"All across the country, banks are searching for ways to better serve their customers," stated Faircloth. "The one thing most people say they need more

Keesler sets auction sale

The Defense Reutilization and Marketing Office will conduct a public auction sale of Department of Defense surplus property, 9 a.m. Tuesday in Building 4422.

Items for sale include office supplies, furniture, motor vehicles, clothing, industrial equipment and other miscellaneous property.

Property is both used and unused and offered on a "limited guaranteed description" to the highest bidder.

Property can be inspected from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. weekdays beginning Thursday. Registration for the sale begins at 7:30 a.m. on the day of the sale and continues until all items and lots are sold. Bidders must be at least 18 years old and cannot be indebted to the government.

Persons without a DOD vehicle identification sticker must enter Keesler through the main gate visitors center on White Avenue.

For more information, call 377-2393.

Meet the teachers night set at HHS

Parents of students enrolled at Hancock High School are cordially invited to attend "Meet the Teachers Night" on Thursday, August 19, 1993, in the Commons beginning at 6:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m.

During the general session school board policy changes will be discussed.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

One of our subscribers dropped by the office Thursday evening to report she had received a telephone call from someone trying to sell 24-hour fire alarm systems.

Not giving out any of her personal information, she tried to get information on the company selling the product and was not happy with the response.

She then went to the Bay Police Department and was informed the company was not registered with them.

It may be wise for residents to really be sure they know who they are talking with before they ever give out any information over the telephone.

A good check on any solicitor, is to call the police department to see if they are registered with them, or the Better Business Bureau.

It seems that if someone was selling an alarm system, the police department should know something about them.

Police Chief Frank McNeil said he urges all residents not to give their credit card, or drivers license number out unless they can first verify the company is legitimate.

One of the latest scams is to get a persons credit card number and make a duplicate of it and also make a fake license with a fake photo.

They then drain off a persons credit limits on their credit cards.

McNeil reports there have been several cases like this happening in the area.

Another hint I heard several weeks ago was to never give out a persons credit card number over a portable telephone, as it can be intercepted.

I was asked by a Hancock County sheriff's investigator, to take a ride Thursday afternoon to view some areas with bad litter problems.

One place we visited looked like a new garbage 'dump' right on our beachfront.

I am talking about Clermont Harbor, as there are several large piles of mostly beer bottles and trash.

It is a disgrace for our beachfront to be so covered with litter.

Something has to be done with the situation, in addition to being an eyesore, it can also be dangerous because of the broken bottles.

There were several areas we passed that were filthy with litter and even in Bay St. Louis, we found a regular 'dump.'

If you guessed the Martin-Luther King Park, you were right.

This park can be cleaned up one day and the next it looks like it had not been taken care of in years.

A week ago I passed the Martin Luther King Park and the basketball court was covered with bottles, many of which were broken.

Broken bottles and litter were all over the play area, how can youngsters play and enjoy themselves in such conditions.

I know there are people who want to keep Martin Luther King Park clean and beautiful, yet there seems to be a few who have other ideas.

Something to think about, mature adults should be setting a good example for youth.

While on the subject of litter, someone on Tuesday night ripped the gate and a portion of the fence from the Washington Street/Chapmann Road Hancock County Convenience Center.

Someone just hooked a chain to the gate and pulled it, along with fence and posts, down.

Several members of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Beautification Committee have gotten together and are offering a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person, or person responsible.

Give the sheriff's office a call at 467-5101.

Longtime Bay St. Louis resident and native, Mr. Henry Lang celebrated his 85th birthday on Aug. 8.

I have known Mr. Henry all of my life. As a matter of a fact, he, my father and an uncle all worked together as teenagers in the J.S. LeBlanc Grocery in Bay St. Louis.

In celebrating his birthday, Mr. Henry flew to Key West and had a big celebration with daughter JoAnn Cassidy, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Mr. Henry can be seen about the Bay on his bicycle, and also each week morning at the Hancock County Food Pantry giving a helping hand.

Prior to retirement, Mr. Lang was head butcher at Jitney Jungle for many years.

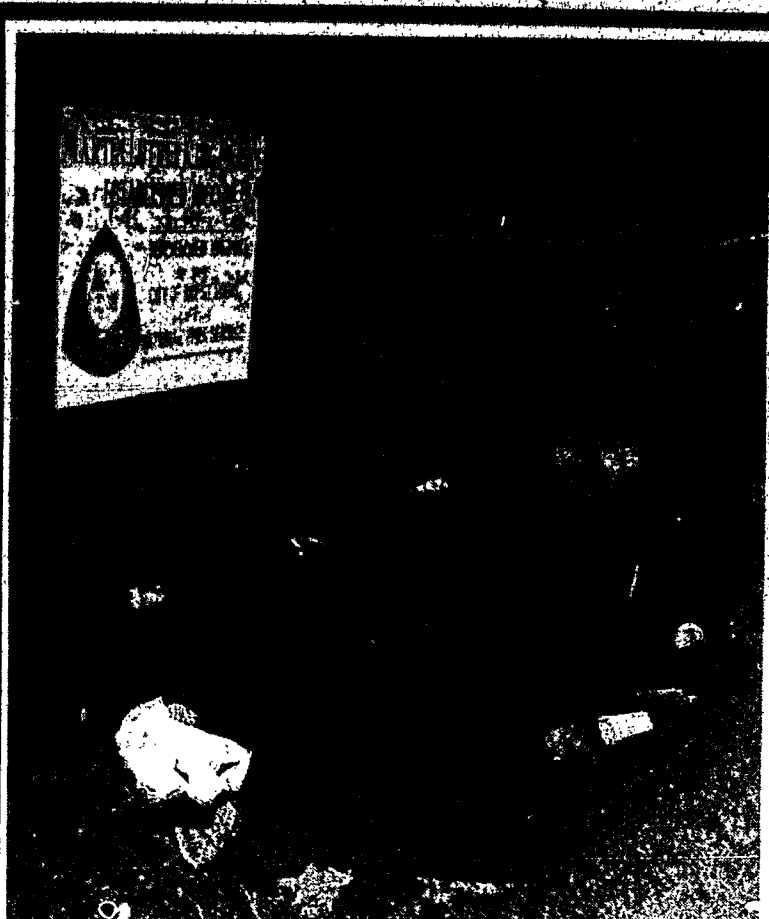

Happy birthday Mr. Henry and I hope to have many, many more.

Welcome?

This is the type of welcome visitors receive when they visit our area. Piles of litter along our beaches such as the photo at bottom, taken on the beach in Clermont Harbor and in the heart of Bay St. Louis at the Martin Luther King Park. These are just some of the areas of our community marred because of litter. (Echo staff photos by Ellis Cuevas)

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Taylor senses ban will remain

When all is said and done, I am optimistic that the present ban on gays in the military will remain intact without the adoption of the "don't ask, don't tell" policy.

After having attended a recent Armed Services Subcommittee hearing on military personnel, I believe that the committee will vote to keep the ban in place without adding any additional amendments.

Once out of the House Armed Services Committee, I would be surprised if the House and the Senate did not accept the advice of the committee and vote to also keep the ban in place.

The "Don't Ask, Don't Tell" policy just doesn't make any sense.

The Department of Defense Directive 1332.14 states that homosexuality is incompatible with military service. I agree with the directive and the Joint Chiefs of Staff that the current ban on homosexuality in the armed forces should remain intact.

A "don't ask, don't tell" policy that bars openly practicing homosexuals but limits investigations of discreet gays and lesbians is not the solution. Keeping the ban intact is the solution.

Military life often means unending contact with people whose company one has not chosen, without normal privacy, under chronic stress. Introducing gays into this unique environment will cause serious disruptions.

The armed forces have always placed military effectiveness above individual needs. To introduce the "don't ask, don't tell" policy without serious regard for the consequen-ences could severely damage the security and morale of our nation's armed forces.

As a member of the House Armed Services Committee you can rest assured that I will take every step possible to keep the current ban intact.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Weidman explains position on sewer and gas line

Dear Editor:

A number of people have asked me why I voted no on the Bayou Caddy deal and the agreement with the State Highway Department to relocate the gas lines on Highway 603. Some of my reasons are as follows:

First as to the Bayou Caddy deal:

1. I don't feel that your tax dollars should be used to subsidize an industry outside our city limits where our city will receive no taxes or revenues from this business.

2. We still have several streets with no water and sewerage service available, for example, portions of Highway 90 where future businesses could locate.

3. There is no maintenance agreement on the sewer line that will be put in. Whose responsibility is it to maintain this line?

4. It has not been explained who will bear the cost of repairing the damage to the streets and drainage which will be caused by laying the new line.

5. The present sewerage system in Waveland dates from 1972 and was designed for 2,000 households. Will accepting the effluent from Bayou Caddy over load the system? If so, will you, the taxpayers of Waveland be asked to raise the money to upgrade this 21 year old system?

Second, as to the agreement with the State Highway Department:

1. The City of Waveland was officially notified by the State Highway Dept. on April 10, 1990 that the City would be required to move the gas lines. I was not an Alderman at that time, but the Mayor and her three Alderman and the City Attorney were all serving on that Board.

2. I was informed informally by City personnel that we were going to relocate the gas lines with City employees and that $66,000 was provided in the budget to do the project.

3. After the front page headlines of Thursday, June 24, 1993, I visited with the City Engineer, Duke Levy, to learn more about the problem. Two things were of particular interest to me, which were, who prepared the Urgent Need Grant and where did Mayor Frilot come up with the $300,000 cost to relocate the gas lines.

I found that South Mississippi Planning and Development District prepared the grant application which called for a cost of $124,700 to relocate the lines and engineering and administrative costs brought the total application to $181,600. No one could explain the $300,000 from Mayor Frilot.

4. When I requested information about the project at the meeting of July 5, Mayor Frilot curtly replied that what I read in the newspapers was all I needed to know. When she asked Aldermen Rappold, Colson and Hubbard if they had enough information, they of course - said yes.

5. The City had a period of 18 months from April 10, 1990, to have a project considered for the Urgent Need Grant. The City applied for the grant on March 31, 1993, far too late to have the grant application considered.

6. Mayor Frilot advised me that since I was not an attorney I should take the City Attorney's advice and accept the agreement. But this attorney did not offer any alternative solutions nor even a guess as to what the cost to the citizens of Waveland would be.

In good conscience, at the 11th hour, with very little information to go on I felt I had no choice but to vote no.

Stan Weidman
Alderman 4th Ward
Waveland, MS

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi
Economic Council

M/E/C

Give and the state shall receive

A few days ago, over 250 volunteers from Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas met in Jackson for a super conference. And super it was.

The Delta Service Corps, a joint service project of three states, held its first conference on community awareness and responsibility since the Corps' beginning in 1992. The program is federally funded and provides qualified, highly motivated people to work in community-based organizations.

During the conference, the Corps discussed where it was after its first year of service and where it should go in the future. The outcome looks as if the Corps will only move ahead.

With $3.5 million in funding this year, the Corps has done everything from repair houses to encourage minority participation in the arts. Imagine what the Corps can do with the $5 million in funding it is expected to receive next year.

The main focus of the Corps is to make a community a better place to live. Members of the program volunteer full or part time each week to help people, structures and organizations in communities across Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas. It's simply a matter of giving time and a helping hand to their communities.

Though the volunteers do receive a stipend for their work, it is just enough to cover living expenses for a year. Full-time volunteers certainly cannot afford luxuries while working in the program.

With little pay for a tremendous amount of hard work, why would anyone want to be a part of the Delta Service Corps? Because these 250-plus volunteers see the needs of their local communities and know that they can make a difference.

Imagine what Mississippi's many communities could accomplish by working together to help each other.

The solution to the problems of the state must start with the citizens in the communities. Whether it's volunteering to assist with much needed structural repairs or agreeing to lead a citizens action group, efforts to improve this state must be initiated by the individuals who live in Mississippi.

By volunteering in the community, the standard "give and ye shall receive" will go much farther.

Give . . . and we all shall receive.

Hancock Bank offers 'branchless banking'

Hancock Bank has announced the opening of its newest loan location, your telephone. The new center, Loan by Phone, allows customers to apply for all types of personal loans by telephone, thus saving time and effort. Hancock is the only area bank offering this type of loan service.

According to Hancock Bank President George Schloegel, the new service provides a major benefit to people in the market for financing.

"Our new loan center hours are 7 until 6 Monday through Friday and 9 until noon on Saturday. These extended hours will benefit people who cannot get to the bank during normal business hours."

Anyone can reach Loan by Phone by calling

1-800-965-LOAN (5626). They can receive rate and payment information and apply for a loan without having to go to the bank. Closing of the loan will be at a branch and time most convenient to the customer.

Loan-by-Phone center manager Delma Powell has worked the past seven months developing and implementing the concept.

According to Hancock's marketing director Mark Faircloth, the new service is a step toward "branchless banking conveniences."

"All across the country, banks are searching for ways to better serve their customers," stated Faircloth. "The one thing most people say they need more of is time; so, if a bank can save them time when they need a

Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino makes progress

Construction of Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino, claimed to be the tallest known structure between Pensacola and New Orleans, is presently underway in Lakeshore.

Director of Marketing Keiko Palmero said the casino is scheduled to open before the end of the year.

The three level construction with a total of 61,500 square feet includes 34,000 square feet of gaming and 16,600 square feet for food and beverage.

The third level will be used as an entertainment lounge, seating 250 people.

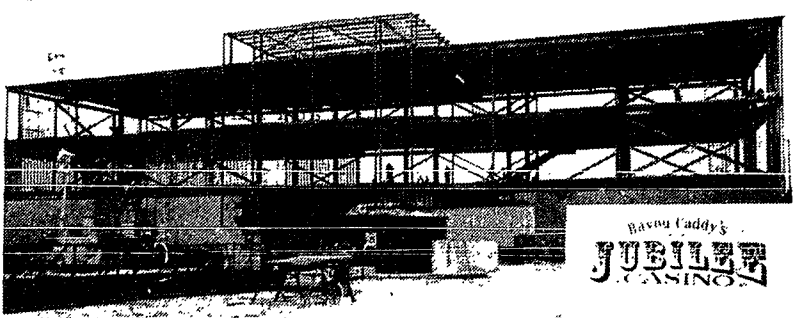

A 160 foot water tower supported on a massive base, will hold 250,000 gallons of water assuring a ready supply of water for the casino, and for any fire or emergency needs. Pilings supporting the tower were driven 125 feet below grade, then filled with concrete and capped with a large concrete apron on which the tower will stand.

Two massive cranes are presently moving tons of earth required to augment the height of the roadway and sidewalks

by raising the existing road base by three feet.

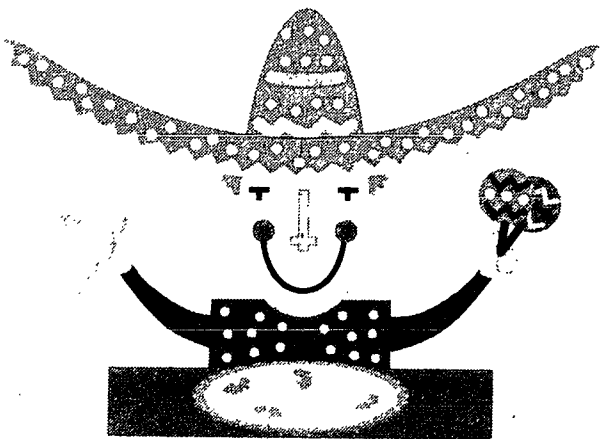

Also, under construction is a

supplementary wave guard rail of over three feet above the new road base.

Aero-Space Plane facility dedicated at Stennis

U.S. Sen. Trent Lott, along with NASA and U.S. Department of Defense officials, formally dedicated a new state-of-the-art testing facility, Wednesday, at NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center (SSC).

The High Heat Flux Facility will perform high-temperature tests on materials in support of the National Aero-Space Plane (NASP) program.

THE NASP is a joint project between NASA and the Department of Defense. The plane will be a flight test vehicle that will take off horizontally, fly into orbit at speeds of up to Mach 25 using airbreathing engines as its primary propulsion, then return through the atmosphere to land on a runway.

After expressing his sincere appreciation for all those involved with the facility, SSC

Director Roy Estess concluded his remarks by saying, "As we gather to dedicate this facility, we dedicate it to the pioneering spirit of those who came before us, those who pushed the frontier of flight, and those of you who are here today who made this happen, and especially to the new generations who will use this facility to learn how to build the great flying machines of the future."

During the dedication ceremony, Lott commented on the importance of the facility by saying, "This High Heat Flux Facility will make a major contribution to NASP and guarantee, I believe, its success. And I think we are going to find that this program is going to provide spin-off benefits that are going to be used in the private sector of this country and other areas that the imagination can't really dream of right now."

Tests conducted at the High Heat Flux Facility will evaluate the application of different materials under simulated flight conditions thereby reducing project risks and avoiding the high costs involved in flight testing. The first test at the facility is scheduled for this fall.

Stennis to offer 29 free teacher workshops

Twenty-nine free education workshops will be offered during the 1993-1994 school year at the NASA Teacher Resource Center at the John C. Stennis Space Center.

In conjunction with other ongoing educational programs at Stennis, the workshops are designed for educators of all grade levels, kindergarten through 12th grade, and are conducted by aerospace education specialists. Scientists and engineers from NASA and other agencies located at Stennis Space Center often assist with the instructions.

New workshops this year include Cooperative Learning in the Science Classroom and Cooperative Learning in the Math Classroom. The goal of these workshops is to provide teachers with activities that allow students to work cooperatively in small groups.

A series of easy science workshops will be offered which will show teachers how to use common household items to demonstrate basic scientific principles.

Additional new workshops include Grant Writing for the Timid, a workshop for teachers of all grade levels seeking ways to supplement their limited school funding for class projects, and Art for the Anxious, a workshop for teachers of kindergarten through sixth grade which teaches simple art techniques to be used in student projects. Whole Language, Reading Comprehension and Creative Writing are other new workshop topics.

Stennis' Teacher Resource Center can custom-tailor workshops to suit specific educational needs. In addition to the workshops offered each school year, Stennis Space Center's Teacher Resource Center offers a wide variety of free instructional materials, including slides, videotapes, printed materials and lesson plans. Subjects range from geography and meteorology to astronomy and environmental science.

All 1993-94 teacher workshops will be held from 8:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. Workshops are free, but reservations are required due to limited seating. Call the Teacher Resource Center at (601) 688-3338 for further information. Add Schedule.

Casino Magic revenues $47 Million for quarter

Casino Magic Corp. (NASDAQ/NMS:CMAG) today reported net income of $9,790,394 or 32 cents per share, for the second quarter ended June 30, 1993, vs. a net loss of $1,155,036, or 8 cents per share in last year's second quarter.

Net revenues for the second quarter were $46,976,710, vs. $688,480 last year. Second quarter net income reflects pre-opening expense of $2,113,864, or approximately 5 cents per share after tax, for Casino Magic's new casino in Biloxi, which opened in June.

Marlin F. Torguson, president and chief executive officer of Casino Magic said, "Excluding pre-opening expense, which we view as an investment in our future growth, second quarter earnings would have been 37 cents per share. And we achieved a substantial increase in revenues over the first quarter level, even though the Biloxi casino was only open for about three weeks of the second quarter."

"So far in the third quarter, we have had excellent customer traffic and very strong revenues, particularly at our Bay Saint Louis casino. Net gaming revenues at the Bay Saint Louis casino were higher in July than in any month since our opening last fall."

The Biloxi casino is in line with our expectations, given the fact that we opened Biloxi with about one-half of our casino space open and with temporary parking facilities. We expect continued growth in revenues at Biloxi, although that growth will be moderate until our additional casino space and permanent parking facility open later this year.

"In keeping with our philosophy of giving our customers a level of service that is 'a cut above,' we have continued to upgrade our level of customer service, implemented more extensive marketing programs, and developed additional facilities at the Bay Saint Louis site. We opened the first phase of our recreational vehicle park in July, and will add a new fine dining facility with the opening of a steak house and seafood restaurant in the Porte Cochere at Bay Saint Louis."

"A stepped-up schedule of air charters, which is part of our more extensive marketing program, is now in operation for both the Biloxi and Bay Saint Louis casinos. In both August NASDAQ National Market System under the symbol CMAG. And September we have scheduled more than 40 air charters to the Gulf Coast from cities throughout the central and eastern U.S.

"Our business strategy remains focused on positioning and strengthening our company for long-term growth, and we have increased our development program to identify and evaluate additional casino sites in a wide variety of geographic locations."

Casino Magic Corp., a Minnesota corporation, with principal offices in Bay Saint Louis, operates gaming casinos in Bay Saint Louis and Biloxi, and Deadwood, S.D.

The common stock of Casino Magic Corp. is listed on the Net earnings per weighted average share outstanding were $2.02 compared with the $0.81 reported last year.

Sales for the 53-week fiscal year ended July 3, 1993 reflected an increase of 8.9% over sales for the 52-week fiscal year ended June 27, 1992.

Winn-Dixie reports sales

Winn-Dixie Stores Inc. reported record sales of $10.8 billion and earnings of $236.4 million for its fiscal year ended June 30, 1993.

Net earnings from operations increased 9.2% for fiscal 1993, up from $216.4 million for fiscal 1992. Earnings per share amounted to $3.11 versus $2.82 for 1992, a 10.3% increase.

Net earnings for the fourth quarter of fiscal 1993 amounted to $82.8 million, or $1.10 per share, compared to $82.0 million, or $1.07 per share for the fourth quarter of 1992.

Holmes-Spotorno

Elisa Renee Spotorno of Memphis, Tenn., and Curtis Douglas Holmes of Memphis were united in marriage April 17, 1993, at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis.

Fr. Cuthbert O'Connell officiated the 11 a.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Gerald A. Spotorno Jr. and Melissa Robards. The groom is the son of Danny Holmes and Linda Pyle.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The bride chose a white satin gown with beaded appliques and pearls. Her veil matched the dress with lace and pearls. She carried a bouquet of peach roses, baby breath and pearls interwoven.

Matron of honor was Dawn Buzzatta. Bridesmaids were Christian Roesler, Eva Cook and Annette Spotorno.

Ring bearer and flower girls were Madison Murphy, Mallory Murphy and Samantha Richardson.

Best man was Louis Spotorno. Groomsmen included Matthew Spotorno, Brian Buzzatta and Michael Richardson Jr.

Providing nuptial selections were soloist Margaret Murphy and organist Charles Young.

A reception followed the ceremony at Virginia Hall in Bay St. Louis.

Pre-nuptial parties:

A rehearsal dinner was held at Annie's Restaurant. Christian Roesler and Mickey Rousseau gave a bridal shower in Memphis. Bridal showers were also given by Dawn Buzzatta

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Douglas Holmes and Ruth Thompson, at the Historical Society in Bay St. Louis and at the home of Ruth Thompson in Waveland.

The couple will make their home in Memphis.

Rogers-Long

Matt Rogers and Susan Long

Susan Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Long of Emporia, Kansas, and Matt Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rogers of Lenexa, Kansas, announce their engagement. Miss Long and her parents are former residents of Bay St. Louis.

The bride-elect attends Emporia State University, where she is majoring in elementary education.

Mr. Rogers also attends Emporia State, where he has a double major in computer information systems and accounting.

The couple will be married September 4.

Garrigas celebrate 60th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Leo L. Garriga of Fenton Community celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on July 31, 1993, by renewing their wedding vows at Kiln Annunciation Catholic Church, where they were originally married.

Fr. Henry McInerney officiated the ceremony. After the ceremony, the couple enjoyed a reception with family and friends at the Jourdan River Shores Clubhouse.

The couple was originally married July 29, 1933 by Fr. A.C. Denis.

Mrs. Garriga is the former Bernice Koenenn of Fenton Community.

Mr. Garriga, also a native of the Fenton Community, formerly worked at the State Highway Department and General Electric.

They have three children, Jerry Leo Garriga of Pascagoula, Margaret Sue Saux of New Orleans and Linda Sue, who died as a toddler.

They have six grandsons, one granddaughter and one great-granddaughter.

WEDDINGS

Ladner-Crawford

Kathy Lynn Crawford of Slidell, La., and Clifford Dewayne Ladner of Perkinston, Miss., were united in marriage June 19, 1993, at Diamond-head Country Club.

Brother Jewel Prince officiated the 3 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent L. Tomczak of Slidell. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford L. Ladner of Perkinston.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The bride chose a full length white satin gown embellished with French lace and heavily embroidered with iridescent sequins and pearls. The fitted bodice featured a Victorian neckline with puffed sleeves.

The drop-waist fell into a Cathedral length train from a false bustle of roses, fingertip white veil with a blush veil, both flowing from a braided v-band of pearls accented with hanging tendrils of tiny flowers.

The bride's bouquet was white roses accented with ivy, ribbon and pearls.

Serving as matron of honor was Cynthia Crain, and Gianna Singletary was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Robin Crain, JoAnn Hale and Traci Costello.

The bridesmaids carried long stem red roses and wore black moire semi-formal length suits. Their fitted jackets featured white shawled collars with pearl buttons.

Flower girl was Alexis Ladner, niece of the groom. Joshua Singletary, godchild of the bride, was ring bearer.

Best man was Clifford L. Ladner, father of the groom.

Groomsmen and ushers were Joseph Ladner,

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Dewayne Ladner

Following the ceremony was a reception at the Country Club.

The couple will make their home in Savannah, Georgia.

Patterson named CEES principal

The Coast Episcopal Board of Trustees has named Mrs. Marcelle Dessommes Patterson principal of Coast Episcopal Elementary School.

Patterson, 43, is the mother of four children, ages 18, 15, 13 and 5. She is 1968 graduate of Long Beach High School, attended Millsaps College, and received BS and M Ed degrees from the University of Southern Mississippi.

Marcelle Patterson

She also earned specialist certification (AAA) in Elementary Education through USM. Patterson, her husband Richard, and children reside in Long Beach.

Patterson comes to Coast Episcopal from Westminster Academy in Gulfport, where she was assistant principal and had taught for 12 years. Her experiences at Westminster Academy included three years of teaching kindergarten and nine years of teaching computer lab resource classes and English language arts.

In 1989 she was one of 40 elementary school foreign language teachers in the Southeast to be selected to attend the month-long Summer Institute for Elementary School Teachers of French and Spanish at the University of Arkansas.

"Elementary school is an ideal time for foreign language instruction to begin. I am pleased that Coast Episcopal Elementary offers a program which provides students with the opportunity to begin learning Spanish," said Patterson.

In addition to her private school experiences, Patterson taught upper elementary grades for four years in Long Beach and Ocean Springs.

"I am delighted to be joining the faculty at Coast Episcopal," said Patterson. "My focus will be to maintain a Christian atmosphere which provides students with a wide range of learning experiences."

Wheat-Moore

Marcia Ruth Moore of West Palm Beach, Fla., and Lt. Steven Paul Wheat, United States Navy, of Yazoo City, Miss., were united in marriage July 10, 1993 at First Baptist Church in Cleveland, Miss.

The Rev. Frank R. Wheat and Rev. Roy B. Moore officiated the 4:30 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Roy N. Moore of Cleveland and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Moore of Marks, Miss., and Mrs. W.B. Bayles of Cleveland and the late Mr. Bayles.

The groom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Frank R. Wheat of Yazoo City and the grandson of Mrs. J. Rolland Weston of Waveland and the late Mr. Weston and the late Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Breazeale.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The bride chose a gown of white silk tulle and imported laces. The basque bodice was overlaid with imported cut laces creating a Sabrina neckline and elbow cuffed solitaire sleeves.

The fullness of the skirt was caught up into the lace self buttoned vee back developing into a lace trellised and appliqued lace scalloped chapel length train. Pearl and sequins delicately etched the pattern of the lace over the entire gown.

She wore a crown spray of cut laces and pearls holding fingertip veils of silk illusion, streamed with pearls.

The bride carried a cascade of pink and white bridal roses, stephanotis and smilax.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Roy F. Krag. Bridesmaids were Debby Rominger and Ginger Wheat.

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Paul Wheat

John Wheat served as best man. Ushers were Bill Carney, Rick Moore and Walter Willford. Providing nuptial selections were soloist Maxine Moore and organist Mary Claire Norwood.

A seated dinner reception was held at the Cleveland Country Club following the ceremony. The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at the Cleveland Country Club on the eve of the wedding.

The couple will make their home in Virginia Beach, Virginia.

CLUBS

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The regular monthly meeting of the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 139, was held on Monday, August 9, at the post home on Green Meadow Road.

President Susan Piazza opened the meeting; color-bearers, Roslyn Weathers and Hazel Wohlschlegel advanced the colors; Chaplin Ursula Farve read the opening prayers, followed by a moment of silent prayer for our deceased and ailing members; the president led the assembly in the Pledge of Allegiance followed by the Preamble.

Secretary Margaret Prevou then called the Roll of officers; and read the minutes of the previous meeting; which were accepted as read. Treasurer Bobby Tomlinson gave her report on the financial status of the unit.

A new member was introduced the president, and Billie Ferguson was given a warm welcome by the members.

Girls' State Chairman presented Rachel Pope and Wendy Kingston, who were sponsored by the unit, to tell the members of their week in the Girls' State program in Hattiesburg and how much was learned by them about the workings of government.

They thanked the members for the privilege of attending this program and listening the many other girls from various sections of Mississippi, gave them a new perspective and they made new friendships.

President Piazza asked for members to accept the different chairs for the new year, and had a very good response.

The regular business of the unit was finished so President Piazza called for the last prayers; the color-bearers retired the colors; she then read the closing words, and the meeting was adjourned. Refreshments were then served.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

Despite the torrid August days, I still find the front porch swing a cool retreat in the early morning hours, before the world around me really comes awake (except for the birds and me) and a few others.

And, as I lazily curl up in the swing, with the morning paper and that first cup of coffee, I'm trying to decide just what I want to do with those lusciously-ripe peaches an equally early-riser friend has just brought to me.

I'm about to pounce upon one at the moment, and I'm quite sure that another will be sliced over my breakfast cereal. But, after that? There are so many ways to enjoy fresh peaches, a luscious fruit as dear to the ancient peoples of the earth as to us today.

Peaches, known to ancient

China and Persia, were brought to Europe, thence to the New World by early Spanish explorers. And, the early French settlers planted peach trees in Louisiana, as did the English at Jamestown and so on. And, I wonder just how many Peach-tree Streets there are in the Peach State of Georgia?

Of course, prime favorites are homemade peach ice cream and peach cobbler and pie; but, if you don't want to stay in the kitchen that long, try this lazy-day way with:

BRANDY 'N' PEACH ICE CREAM

2 cups sliced fresh peaches
2 Tbsp. sugar

1 pint vanilla (or peach) ice cream, slightly thawed
1/3 cup peach-flavored brandy

Combine peaches and sugar in the blender, and whirl until pureed; or mash together until pureed. Combine with the ice cream and brandy and refreeze either in a bowl or mold, or in individual serving dishes. (4 to 6 servings)

Another quick treat: for each serving, peel a large, ripe peach and slice lengthwise. Place in a sherbet or other clear glass, pour 2 ounces of burgundy over, and serve immediately.

Or: if you want to go to just a bit more effort: Peel and halve, and pit, of course, six peaches, chop 2 ounces of shelled, toasted almonds finely and mix with 2 ounces of powdered sugar. Fill the peach halves, and place in a shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with a little more sugar, and if you wish, splash a little sherry over. Bake in a moderate oven for 10 minutes, and serve warm.

Gulf Coast Women's Center in need of volunteers

When an individual is raped or is a victim of domestic violence, where can that person turn for help and assistance?

In the southern counties of Mississippi the Gulf Coast Women's Center operates a 24-hour crisis line to help people in these situations. This service enables persons so victimized to reach out for help and receive an immediate response to their needs.

The Gulf Coast Women's Center offers a number of important services. It provides temporary shelter for victims of domestic violence and their children and also makes available counseling and other forms of assistance for any person who has been victimized through rape or domestic violence.

Volunteers are very important in this work. They are needed not only to maintain the crisis line, but also in a variety of other ways. There are a number of important programs involving the children.

The Center needs specialized volunteers such as art and music therapists, as well as volunteers who help with the everyday activities that occur in a pre-school setting. An infant stimulation program is being undertaken so that small children will have attention focused on their very special needs.

The Center could also use help in the office with letter writing and mailing out the newsletter.

Prospective volunteers are provided with two full days of certified training to prepare them for this important work.

Staff and volunteers work together to provide the needed assistance in the different services the Center provides to those it serves.

Anyone interested in volunteering for the crisis line or any of the other programs provided by the Gulf Coast Women's Center are requested to call Augusta Toomer at 435-1968.

Princess Shoppe serves community since Camille

Princess Fahey began Princess Dress Shoppe in Bay Plaza Shopping Center perhaps at the most inopportune time ever, only a few weeks after devastating Hurricane Camille practically destroyed the Mississippi Gulf Coast in August 1969.

says, "and we like to help our clients put together a complete stylish look."

And to help put together the overall package, Princess Dress Shoppe carries items ranging from jewelry, to formal wear, sports clothes, special occasion

But believing her idea for a dress boutique that would fill a particular niche would work, the optimistic Mrs. Fahey forged ahead. Later joining her as manager and buyer was her daughter-in-law Jane Ann Fahey, a former buyer for Maison Blanche, who has been managing the store for about 20 years now.

The idea grew, sometimes slowly, but steadily, and the store has tripled since the early days following Camille.

Jane Ann says Princess Dress Shoppe strives to be different and also to serve the full dressing needs of their clients. "We have tried to make shopping a pleasant experience," she wear and shoes. The shoppe also carries an exclusive line of fragrances, and offers special occasion looks for members of the wedding party.

And 12 years ago the store put together a successful Teen Board, which puts on fashion shows and events to help the younger age groups become more conscious of a good self-image. Proceeds from the board's fashion shows are given to the schools as a donation.

The shoppe carries sizes 2 through 22. Store hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Other services offered by the shoppe are alterations, gift wrapping and shipping.

Performance Oil celebrates its sixth year of business

Performance Oil Change and Tune-Up, celebrating its sixth year of business this month, continues to provide top quality service to its customers.

"We've had a good, steady clientele and have proven to our customers that we can give them a good deal and that we're going to take care of them," said general manager Rick Schroeder.

Performance offers basic and full service oil changes, basic and full service tune-ups, transmission service, fuel injection service and minor general mechanic work.

In addition, they have recently started doing air conditioning work and onboard computer diagnostics and related services.

"We updated our test equipment to handle the onboard computer diagnostics, and now people are not locked into having to go to a dealership because of types of ignitions," said Schroeder.

Schroeder, a five year employee, said business dropped off a little when the casinos first opened.

"Lately, we have made a big comeback. We have a lot of out-of-town people coming through who stop here and a lot of new people coming into the area. Business has generally picked up," he said.

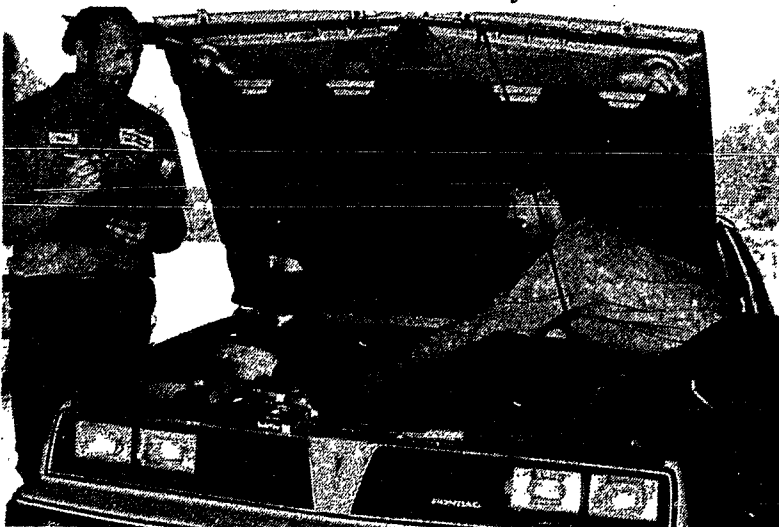

They have also started sending out reminder cards to customers.

Employees include Mark Raphael, Dale Hoda and Gerry Wayne Necaise.

Bay St. Louis businessmen Ames Kergosien and Robert Kane own the business.

Prices for basic ignition tune-up range from $39.95 to $49.95, for basic oil change $18.80 and for full service $21.70.

Performance Oil Change and Tune-Up is located at 1248 Highway 90 east, across from the Bay St. Louis Post Office. Hours of operation are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.
